SAB staff seem to be targeting Monday, March 17. However, they acknowledge that actual release may be a day or two later.

Discussion needed?

Jeff, week of the 17th implies that it could be any of 5 days. May I assume that there is some flexibility during that week?

Subject: WOUS: Draft Connectivity Report - SAB Review

I checked in with SAB staff this morning concerning the status of the draft Connectivity Report. There is a schedule change from what I previously reported.

SAB staff anticipate that they will be releasing the draft peer review report from the ad hoc panel the week of March 17. The follow-on public teleconferences to discuss that draft report have been postponed to April 28 and May 2. The dates for the teleconferences will be publicly announced when the draft peer review report is released.
